Local general aviation airports produce identifiable economic benefits that exceed the tax dollars spent on maintaining and operating the facilities. They provide direct, indirect and induced economic impact on our local economies and provide a level of service to our residents and businesses that is sometimes overlooked. At this luncheon, join us as we hear from local industry experts on what these airports mean to our county and region and why it is so important for us to support their efforts. Plus, get a first-hand update on what's happening at our airports and how they could make a difference to you
